

Dr. Holger Müller

Dr. Holger Müller, a chemistry PhD from ETH Zürich, is a Vice President at Health Advances and leads Health Advances' European office located in Zug, Switzerland. Immediately prior to joining Health Advances, Holger held Chief Commercial Officer positions at Biognosys AG, a leading mass spectrometry CRO with focus on proteome discoveries and Cell Medica, a cell therapy company, where Holger was responsible to launch one of the first cell therapy therapeutics into European markets. Holger also held the Chief Operating Officer position at Spiden, an early-stage medical device company using state-of-the-art detection technologies for vital medical indicator tracking.

He previously worked in several senior commercial- and business development roles at Novartis Pharma, both at the global- and local affiliate level, while supporting development-stage and in-market projects across a wide area of therapeutic areas. Earlier, at Bain & Company, Holger consulted for leading pharmaceutical and Private Equity clients primarily on Due Diligences, M&A transitions, and post-merger integrations.
